

18 Political Science

- To develop comprehensive understanding of the subject by learning both conventional and new areas of relevance in the domain of Political Theory and Philosophy, Indian Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Administration and International Relations.
- To develop the ability to make logical inferences about social, and political issues on the basis of comparative historical knowledge as well as assess how global, national and regional developments affect polity and society.
- To motivate and inform students about emerging opportunities and future prospects in the field of Political Science.
- To generate socially informed knowledge to create community awareness and carve out responsible citizens of the future.