

09 English

- Students will develop research aptitude and methodological clarity through their engagement in various literary assignments.
- Students will develop analytical skills that would help them to engage themselves in the ‘close reading’ of a literary text. They would be able to enquire into the stylistic and rhetorical devices employed and thematic concerns explored in a text.
- Students will be able to demonstrate their creative thinking and innovation that would help them to interpret and express their ideas and further help them to hone their writing skills.
- Students will be able to develop a deep knowledge of literary terms and theories which in turn would aid them to approach and analyse a variety of literary texts.
- Verbal fluency in English provides a wide range of employability opportunities in the job market. As a link language, English also provides ample scope for analysing world literatures and translating them into English language for further academic engagement.